Information for the owner of affected land

Under the Building Act 2011 a person responsible for building or demolition work must not, without the notification and consent of the adjoining land owner(s):

- place a protection structure beyond the boundaries of the land on which work is being carried out; or
- carry out certain works that would affect a party wall; or
- remove fences or gates (note that consent is not required in some circumstances - refer section 80(d)) of that Act); or
- access adjoining land to do the work or conduct a survey (consent is not required if the adjoining land is vacant, however this does not affect the exercise and enforcement of any right that a person has to stop, restrict or prevent a person going on to the other land).

You (as the owner of affected land) have a period of 28 days in which to consider what is being proposed. You can indicate your response, either consent or refusal, on this notice and return it to the person responsible for the work (see part 6 below for details). This notice forms an agreement between you and the person responsible for the work (usually the builder/demolition contractor). Please keep a copy of the signed notice for your records.

If you do not respond within the 28 day period the person responsible for the work may apply under section 86 of the Building Act 2011 to the Magistrate's Court for a court order.

The person responsible for the work may also request your consent to arrange for access to your property in order to carry out a survey of the affected land. You can indicate your consent at part 7 below.
